Punking the Bard: Shakespeare in Modern Film

Rawlins Library
Adults
Wednesdays
January 4 - February 8
6:30 pm - 8:30 pm

Come watch Shakespeare's timeless stories get turned on their heads in settings that are at once both familiar and bizarre with our 4th annual winter film series. Our six film selections will explore how modern directors have adapted the Bard's work to please and confound their audiences. This event, along with the popcorn and discussion, is free and open to the public.

- January 4: Forbidden Planet (98 mins; NR)
- January 11: A Thousand Acres (104 mins; R)
- January 18: Romeo is Bleeding (108 mins; R)
- January 25: 10 Things I Hate About You (97 mins; PG-13)
- February 1: My Own Private Idaho (104 mins; R)
- February 8: The Tempest (110 mins; PG-13)

Ebooks coming to our Libraries

The Wyoming State Library should have a new downloadable eBook platform up and running soon thanks to a contract with 3M. This Cloud Library, as it is called, allows libraries to purchase titles and offer them to check out electronically to their patrons. Every library in the statewide WYLDcat system in Wyoming will have access to a shared Web site.

Right now 3M works with most eReaders, except for the Kindle. But 3M is working with Amazon to try to expand the offering. If you have a Nook, one of Sony's eReaders, or even a 3M model, you'll be all set to download these books.
