CARBON COUNTY LIBRARY SYSTEM

Rawlins Library, 215 W. Buffalo St.
Rawlins, WY 82301

June 24th, 2020

Dear library patrons and Carbon County residents,

I am happy to report that all Carbon County Libraries are open to the public as of today, including the Hanna Branch Library.

Library hours are altered and certain restrictions on visiting are in place, so we encourage you to call your local library before visiting. In Hanna, please take care to park in the designated area beside the bus barn, and be cautious of construction traffic.

Meeting room use and in person programming are still unavailable at this time, but library staff and our board are continually seeking creative ways to bring programming to you. The Wyoming State Library has many resources that are just a click away, and has added linkedinlearning (formerly Lynda.com) to the list of services available for free with your library card.

We look forward to seeing you in person, though we do encourage you to keep your visits to the library brief. Please familiarize yourself with the safety expectations and guidelines on the next page before your visit.

Sincerely,

Jacob R. Mickelsen

Executive Director
